

Emma Henzy is currently getting her Masters in Communication Studies at the University of Miami, where she also works as a Teacher's Assistant for undergraduate communications classes. Emma also completed her undergraduate education with a Bachelor of Science in Advertising and Media Management at the University of Miami. Her education has allowed her to grow a passion for all things social media.